

Middle School Persuasive Writing Rubric

	4	3	2	1
Ideas	I clearly state a position on a controversial topic. My topic is narrow enough to be covered thoroughly. I explain what I want readers to do as a result of reading what I have written and why it will have a positive effect. I effectively and honestly use appeals to reason, character, and emotion to make my case. I correctly cite sources. I use multiple, credible sources to support my point of view. I think about what my readers would need to know in order to agree with me and include that information. I discuss opposing viewpoints and I explain why my view is better by citing sources and using sound reasoning.	I state a point of view on a topic. My topic is narrow enough to be covered adequately I suggest some kind of action for readers to take after reading what I have written. I use appeals to reason, character, or emotion to make my case. I correctly cite sources, with only superficial errors. I use more than one credible source to support my point of view. I address readers' questions and concerns. I explain why my view is better than opposing viewpoints. I explain why opposing viewpoints are invalid	I try to state a point of view on a topic, but it is unclear. My topic is a bit too broad to be covered adequately. I try to suggest an action for readers to take. I try to use appeals to reason, character, or emotion to make my case, but they are not very effective. I try to cite sources but I may do it inaccurately Some of my sources are not credible. I try to address readers' questions and concerns, but I leave out some important points. I explain why some opposing viewpoints are invalid, but my reasoning is faulty.	I do not state a point of view on a topic. My topic is too broad to be covered adequately. I do not suggest an action for readers to take. I do not use appeals to reason, character, or emotion to make my case. I do not cite sources. Many of my sources are not credible. I do not address readers' questions and concerns. I do not explain why opposing viewpoints are invalid.

		using sound reasoning.
--	--	------------------------	--	--

Organization	My introduction states my point of view and engages the readers. I present my evidence in a logical order that builds toward a powerful conclusion. I use a variety of words, phrases, and structures to connect ideas so they flow in a logical order and build on each other naturally. My writing flows at a pace appropriate for the audience and the topic, elaborating when appropriate. My paragraphs break the writing up to help the reader understand the topic. My conclusion emphasizes my point of view and what I want my readers to do in a memorable way.	My introduction states my point of view. I present my evidence in an order that builds toward a logical conclusion. I use words and phrases to connect ideas. My writing flows at an appropriate pace, not spending too much or too little time on each topic. I use paragraphs appropriately. My conclusion summarizes what the writing was about.	My introduction is unclear about my point of view. I try to present my evidence in a logical order, but some parts don't really fit. I try to connect my ideas, but sometimes they sound choppy. Sometimes I spend too much or too little time on the topics in my writing. I have some paragraphs but there may be too many or too few. My conclusion is unclear in summarizing what the writing was about.	I do not have a clear introduction. There is no order in the way I present my evidence. My ideas do not connect to each other. The pace of my writing is inappropriate for the topic. I do not have paragraphs. I do not have a conclusion.
Voice	I express a sincere belief in what I am writing. I am respectful to my readers and to opposing opinions. I include personal experiences	My writing shows that I care about what I am saying. I do not put down other people's opinions.	I try to convey a belief in what I am writing about. I try to respect all opinions, but sometimes I act disrespectfully to other points of view.	I write as if the writing is just an assignment to complete. I treat opposing viewpoints

	that effectively support my viewpoints.	I use some meaningful, personal details when it is appropriate.	I rarely include meaningful, personal details, even when it would be appropriate.	disrespectfully. I do not reveal anything about myself in the writing.
--	---	---	---	---

Sentence Fluency	My sentences are varied in length and structure to enhance meaning. My sentence beginnings are varied and interesting. My writing has rhythm and sounds effortless when read aloud. I use sentence fragments appropriately to enhance interest and meaning.	My sentences are generally varied in length and structure. My sentence beginnings are often varied. My writing has rhythm.	The length and structure of my sentences vary a little. I attempt to vary sentence beginning structures, but some are repeated. Some parts of my writing have rhythm, but other parts are choppy and awkward.	The length and structure of my sentences are repetitive. Many of my sentences begin in similar ways. My writing does not have rhythm.
Word Choice	My language is precise, specific, and accurate. I use powerful and interesting words and phrases to create memorable pictures in the readers' minds. I use technical terms sparingly and, if they are necessary, I define them in easy-to-understand language.	My language is generally accurate. I use interesting words to engage the reader. I define important technical terms.	My language is sometimes vague, general, and not descriptive. I use predictable, uninteresting language. I do not define all the important technical terms.	My language is general and predictable. I do not define technical terms.
Conventions	I make no errors in spelling, punctuation, or capitalization. I use Standard English throughout the writing. I successfully manipulate conventions of spelling,	I make no spelling, punctuation, or capitalization errors that detract from meaning. Standard English is used throughout the writing.	I make some errors in spelling, punctuation, and capitalization that detract from what I am trying to say. I sometimes use nonstandard English.	Errors in conventions make my writing difficult to read and understand. I frequently use nonstandard English.

	punctuation, and Standard English, when appropriate, to enhance meaning and style.
--	--	--	--	--