

Speaker Bio

Symantec Corporation

---

Ken Schneider
Vice President Technology Strategy, Corporate Strategy Group
Symantec

Ken Schneider serves as vice president of Technology Strategy where his focus is on driving an overall technology strategy across Symantec. He was previously Chief Technology Officer of the Enterprise Security, and Security and Data Management Groups. He was responsible for technology strategy, business development, and business operations. Focus areas were integration, next generation technology initiatives and systems architecture. Ken is a Symantec Fellow.

Prior to joining Symantec, Ken served as CTO and VP of Operations for Brightmail, the leading anti-spam software company that was successfully acquired by Symantec. Before Brightmail, Schneider founded South Beach Software, a software and consulting company that developed products for the professional video market.

Previously, Ken was an independent software consultant for clients such as Sun Microsystems and Digital Equipment Corporation. He has also held engineering positions at Integrated Systems and at the John Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory.

Ken received a master of science in mechanical engineering from University of California Berkeley and a bachelor of science in engineering from Swarthmore College.