Re: Advanced Micro Devices, Inc., et al. v. Intel Corporation, et al.,
C.A. 05-441-JJF; C.A. 05-485-JJF; MDL No. 05-1717-JJF,

Dear Judge Poppiti:

The parties provide this joint report pursuant to Amended Case Management Order No. 6, dated June 20, 2008, which requires within fifteen days of the end of every second month that the parties “jointly report on the number of hours of depositions each has expended during the preceding two months and any issues relating to the progress of the depositions, or any other issues, that have arisen in connection with the depositions.”

Number of Hours of Depositions Expended by Each Side

During the preceding two months, September and October, the parties expended the following numbers of hours:

For depositions taken in September, Intel 46.25 hours, AMD and Class 36 hours;

For depositions taken in October, Intel 25.25 hours, AMD and Class 34.25 hours.

Thus, the totals for the two months are, Intel 71.5 hours, AMD and Class 70.25 hours.

In addition, for a deposition taken on August 28, for which the parties were not able to tabulate the time used by each side prior to submitting their September 15 report, the parties used the following hours: Intel 0.5 hours, AMD and Class 4.25 hours.

Thus, the cumulative total numbers of hours the parties have used since the Court adopted Amended Case Management Order No. 6 through the end of October are:
Intel – 106 hours, AMD and Class – 163.75 hours.

Other Issues in Connection with Depositions

There are no issues relating to the progress of the depositions or any other issues that have arisen in connection with the depositions that the parties believe presently require Your Honor's attention.

Respectfully,

/s/ Steven J. Fineman
